"Two Minutes Silence"

In Reverent Remembrance.

Two minutes Silence we are asked to give
On the farm, in the workshop, or shack,
Just to remind us—"Let us forget"
Of the brave ones who never came back.

Two minutes Silence is not much to give
To the Heroes who gave up their all,
And responded so manfully just at the time
When Humanity sent out her call.

Two minutes Silence—ah what does it mean
To the Mother who lost her dear lad,
Or the Widow and Kiddies whose memories still cling
To the "emic" when they longed to call Dad!

Two minutes Silence soon passes by,
Then we commenced our work once more;
They mean so little, and yet so much,
And the world jogs on as before.

Inhale like some gigantic Mosaic design,
In my mind's eye I see at a glance,
The Sacred Remains of our Heroic Dead
"Mild the poppies of Flanders and France."—Amen.

The Federal Elections

It is a commonplace in all election campaigns for speakers to declare that that particular election contest is the most vitally important one ever held in the history of the country. To some extent, perhaps, such a statement is correct, because, as time passes and a country grows in population and wealth, coupled with the onward march of science, the importance of an election, and the political problems become greater and more complex, and naturally more at stake in reaching a right or wrong decision than was the case in years past when we lived in other and less strenuous times.

In one respect at least such declaration this year has a weight and ring to it that others do not attach to it. The really busy people of Canada are given an opportunity of passing judgment upon the men who administer their domestic affairs, and recording their verdict on domestic questions, every four or five years. It is, however, ten years since the people of this Dominion had an opportunity to make up their minds in regard to policies having a direct bearing on the question of domestic affairs.

In the last general election in Canada domestic questions were not up for consideration, and they played but a small part with the electors in the marking of the ballots. The issue in 1917 was a war issue. It occupied the nation and hearts of the people to the exclusion of every other question. It eliminated old party lines and broke party allegiances extending over generations. Tariffs, financial administration, domestic problems of all kinds, were thrown, temporarily at least, into the discard. The issue in the minds of the people, particularly in the excluded, was everything else, was whether the Military Service Act should stand.

Thousands of Conservatives who in 1917 voted for Liberals and Liberal-Unionists, and thousands of Liberals who voted for Conservatives and Conservative-Unionists, and in so doing sunk all party lines, could easily expect that, as soon as the war was over, they would be given an opportunity of passing judgment upon purely domestic questions. Three years have passed since the signing of the Armistice, and the long awaited opportunity has now come. For the first time since the Reciprocity election of 1911, the people of Canada will, on December 10, next, have an opportunity in regard to policies of politics, administration affecting purely domestic affairs. No question of war, or Empire, or foreign policy is involved in the present contest. The issue can be decided with an eye and mind single to the individual voters' conception of what is best for Canada in a purely domestic sense.

But there is one fact that must be noted. Many things have transpired which cannot have failed to broaden the vision of the people of Canada. The war itself, and the after-effects of that great struggle, have left an indelible mark. In 1911 men only enjoyed the right of the franchise; in December 6 women will go to the polls and cast their ballots in a manner fully equal to men. Questions vitally affecting the material welfare of the Dominion are to be decided, but there has arisen a new conception of the duty of government towards the social and moral well-being of the people which no previous generation has ever known.

In 1911 doubtless there was, so far, so little, on the loyalty of many Canadians over what was, after all, strictly a domestic question. But the war settled all doubts as to the loyalty of the people of this Dominion. They proved themselves Canadian and British both in the East and the West. The war settled the loyalty of all forever, though it did not settle the political question. The Dominion tries to recapture it will prove himself a traitor to Canada and a mighty poor politician.

For these reasons alone it is well within the bounds of truth to say that the approaching election day is a most momentous one in the history of the Dominion, and probably the most important since the dawn of Confederation. It presents an opportunity for the exercise of good citizenship for which all Canadians have been eagerly waiting. Old hard and fast party lines have been shattered, whether for good or ill time alone can tell. New ideas in government, new forms of government, new problems, new ideals have been broadened to its utmost limits; new party leaders are directing affairs; a new national conscience has been awakened.

It, therefore, behoves every man and every woman not only to exercise the right to their great national birthright—the marking of a free nation to the world—but also to exercise the right to a careful study of national problems, and with intelligence and an eye single to the welfare of Canada. The popularity or personality of the individual candidate is one thing, but the voter cannot wisely be guided by that alone; he or she must take a bigger, broader look ahead and consider opposing policies in the light of particular conditions and needs of the people of Canada. The Dominion's old party enthusiasms have waned but let there be a new, greater and better enthusiasm on election day—an enthusiasm for Canada itself.

Expressing An Opinion

Old Salt Resented Being Called Fancy Name

"I say, my good man," said the elderly Englishman to the senior member of the crew, "can you tell me the career of a man of means?" "I know he keeps circling about us."

"A half-brother, sir," responded the old salt.

"Humph! Quite a rare salt, isn't he?"

"Indeed; I've always said 'em called a half-brother."

"Yes, yes, my good man, but I call him a rara arfa just as I call you a gorm hand."

"'Do you?" angrily retorted the old salt. "Well, then, I call it a half-brother just the same as I call you a har."

Expressive Special Train

King George Said it Was Unnecessary Expenditure

A good story has reached the Daily Sketch about King George and a certain member of the British Parliament. King was visiting Belsen Abbey when he summoned a council, to which two Cabinet Ministers hastened on a special train. Later the King said to the two Ministers: "I have a little brother, a man of two hundred pounds. Thereupon the King made this pointed observation: 'That was a damned waste of money. The expenditure was quite unnecessary.'

He need not be told that the British public will pay the bill, and adds the Daily Sketch, "endorses His Majesty's sentiment."

A genuine jealousy plays have with many professed friendship.

New Canal Needed

Panama Will Soon Be Too Small for World's Commerce

It is proposed that the American continent should be cut through again. The present Panama Canal is used by 10,000 ships annually, and all the authorities are agreed that in fifteen years' time it will be quite inadequate for the world's commerce. There is a proposal that instead of making a narrow cut, Panama, the Nicaraguan route may be followed.

This was the original plan of the Americans before they took over the French canal at Panama, and the work as 1820 was to have been undertaken there on a British company. Owing to climatic causes ships have to spend 43 hours moored at the port of Callao, 100 miles to the west of Panama, but against this the distance to San Francisco and New York ends of the Nicaraguan Canal would be 600 miles shorter than from the ends of the Panama Canal.

KEEP HEALTHY DURING WINTER

Colds and Grippe May Be Avoided If the Blood Is Kept Pure

Do not let your blood get thin this winter. For people who have a tendency towards anemia, or bloodlessness, exercise and fresh air, and the more restricted diet, are among the best ways to keep the blood in the tone of the body and depleted the blood.

Since the time allowed for luncheon in many schools is short, the mother should see to it that the luncheon is well balanced and nutritious as soon as she arrives. It is her job to make a child run errands on behalf of the school for the other 60 or 70 children.

For the guidance of mothers, let us quote from the official report of the School Health Committee, Philadelphia:

"Since the time allowed for the luncheon in many schools is short, the mother should see to it that the luncheon is well balanced and nutritious as soon as she arrives. It is her job to make a child run errands on behalf of the school for the other 60 or 70 children."

Continued Deflation Of British Prices Is Feature Of Development

Washington.—Renewed efforts on the part of the British Government to stabilize the currency—in general and also as an incentive to trade in the outstanding feature of the recent economic development in Great Britain, according to a cable to the United States War department from its commercial attaché there.

The effort, he said, consists of the bill now before the House of Lords providing for government loans to assist capital enterprise up to a total of £100,000,000. The bill, the Liberal party is not fully satisfied with the provisions of the measures, he added, it was generally believed it would become a law.

Continued deflation of commodity prices in Great Britain, he continued, was another feature of the economic development of the past month, all commodities, except cotton, were showing a fall off in wholesale prices.

Both imports and exports showed a decline in value of about 2.12 per cent., as compared with September, he continued, but the total foreign trade by quantity did not show a decline.

Manitoba Exhibit

Brandon.—Eleven head of the finest show cattle in the province were sent to the exhibition that will be displayed at the international Manitoba's exhibit. The car contained four heifers and seven fat steers. Two carloads of horses to be exhibited at the show were picked up at Winnipeg.

Foundry Shops Close

Montreal.—The shops of the Canadian Car and Foundry Company at Saint-Henri-Laval and at Lachine, near here, have been practically closed down. The shutdown is said to be temporary and it is expected that the plant will reopen around the end of December. The plant employs about 2,900 men when fully operated.

Experimental Farm For Ontario

Kingston, Ont.—The Ontario Government has bought the 1,000-acre farm of A. J. McLean, who engaged in the breeding of cattle, at a sum understood to be $40,000, and will proceed at once to convert it into an experimental farm for the development of specialized crops, for which this section of Ontario is becoming noted.

British Disposing of War Supplies

London.—The government is rapidly disposing of the large amount of way stocks. The surplus stores worth £675,000 have been disposed of by the armistice. Liquidation is practically completed on the continent, and it is hoped shortly to close down in Egypt.

Local merchants are asked to see his goods and compare prices before sending your money to the mail order houses. You will find that it pays.

China Wants Chance To Play Her Part In World Advancement

Washington.—Preservation of territorial integrity and political and administrative autonomy are the chief aims with preservation of the open-door policy and a prohibition against secret treaties in the Far East were included in the Chinese proposals at the American Conference on Far Eastern questions.

China in return would agree "not to alienate or lease any portion of her territory" to any foreign power, and all special rights, privileges, immunities and franchises, now held in China by foreign powers are to be carefully re-examined.

All existing limitations upon China's political, economic and administrative freedom of action would be removed and provision made for future conferences from time to time for international discussion of the far east.

The Chinese proposals provide for full respect for China's rights as a neutral in all future wars to which the nation is not a party and for peaceful settlement of international disputes in the Pacific and the far east.

In the Washington Conference, who presented the Chinese proposals, said they were made in the interest of all powers involved in the Far East as well as of China and if adopted would pay the

Believes No Danger Of Indian Revolution

Detroit, Mich.—Belief that there is no foundation for rumors of an impending revolution in India was expressed by Bishop G. S. Smith of India, one of the speakers of the National Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Lack of friendship between the Methodist and the Anglican church, he said, is the only reason why the Indian party is not fully satisfied with the provisions of the measures, he added. Bishop Smith declared British control of India must be continued, "if anarchy is to be averted."

Opposed to Dece System

Ontario.—Boards of Trade Suggest National Scheme for Unemployment

Brantford, Ont.—As a solution for the unemployment problem, the Association of Boards of Trade, Ontario, which opened their eighth annual convention here will suggest to the Dominion Government the working out of some sort national scheme, to be shared by all the provinces, cities and towns, and municipalities interested, by which industrial activities would be reopened and public works would be undertaken with a view to spreading the work over the country.

At the same time, the members of the boards of trade would oppose a system as that the greatest amount of employment would be given in those localities where the unemployed are most numerous.

The situation is not serious here, and this scheme is regarded as a temporary expedient. The number of unemployed in the city is probably between two and three hundred.

Loyalists Object to Treatment

Decare Ulster Will Not Submit to Tyranny

Belfast.—Ten thousand Loyalists in three meetings emphatically protested against the British cabinet's treatment of Ulster. Great enthusiasm was displayed. The Lord Mayor of Belfast, Sir Edward Carson, in a meeting in the Assembly Hall, decided that Ulster never would be the vassal of a Sinn Fein parliament. Resolutions to this effect were adopted unanimously. The meeting ended a protest against relying upon the Liverpool conference to repudiate the idea of placing Ulster under the dominion of an all-Ireland Parliament. The mention of Mr. Lloyd George's name was greeted with groans.

A resolution was also adopted endorsing the acting of Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, and his colleagues in the peace negotiations.

Saskatoon Provides

For Unemployed

Men Will Be Given Work on Municipal Roads

Saskatoon, Sask.—To relieve the unemployment situation here, the city council decided to provide all men who can show to the satisfaction of the municipal head that they are not in a position to earn a living, and to men and towns, and municipalities interested, by which industrial activities would be reopened and public works would be undertaken with a view to spreading the work over the country.

At the same time, the members of the boards of trade would oppose a system as that the greatest amount of employment would be given in those localities where the unemployed are most numerous.

The situation is not serious here, and this scheme is regarded as a temporary expedient. The number of unemployed in the city is probably between two and three hundred.

Rebels Attack British

One Officer and Three Men Killed by Mopahs

London.—A British officer and three Indians, says a company of the 10th Royal Hussars, were killed at Pundikash post, had a sharp engagement with 2,600 Mopah rebels, who attacked vigorously. Two-thirds of the rebels were killed, while one British officer and three Indians were killed and 54 men wounded. One gun and a number of knives were captured. The record of other operations also disclosed the use of artillery by the rebels.

Increase in Value of Building Permits

Total of Fifty-Six Canadian Cities Shows Gain

Ottawa.—The total value of building permits in 58 Canadian cities during September last was $9,985,157 as compared with $9,651,038 in August, and with $9,171,181 in September of last year.

Montreal Has Many Unemployed

Montreal.—There is more unemployment in Montreal this year than there has been for many years past and indications point to a very severe winter. There are many social workers.

All charitable foundations are filled to capacity, while the number of applications for work has never been equalled.

By making your purchases from your home merchant you are contributing direct to the prosperity of the community in which you live.

Wireless Chain Scheme Colleagues

The Westminster Gazette

says that the post office scheme of an Imperial wireless chain has collapsed and was destroyed with its inception by the shoddy work of the contractors.

It is asserted in some quarters that this information is probably correct as the Home Government has shown lukewarmness lately toward the scheme.

Cannot Help Russia

Unwise to Make Appeal in Canada

Toronto.—That an relief organization was able to help afflicted Russian people from their famine gripped country and that the Canadian Red Cross Society had decided it was unsafe to make an appeal in Canada at this time for Russian relief, were two points in the report of the executive committee presented to the general council of the society at its meeting here.

BURDETT

In the assault case Hazel vs Schulz, concluded last Friday, at Lethbridge, Schulz was convicted.

These assault cases between neighbors make poor reading and are much to be regretted and they do not redound to the credit of either party. They do not educate a man or his children to Lethbridge, N.W. or Bravado. Ideas but just the reverse; we certainly need more of those "Glorious Visions" the account of which we published two weeks ago on the 11th. November.

It always takes, two to make a quarrel, and either man could have turned and walked away.

What a pride we take in our children when they develop into beings better than ourselves, but are we showing them the right path to be come better?

LONDON—An earnest and interesting discussion on emigration took place lately in the house of commons on the colonial office vote in aid of overseas settlement.

The feature of the debate was the speech of the labor leader, Mr. J. R. Clynes, who said that Great Britain was far too dependent upon overseas for food.

"It would be to the good," he said, "if we could use even more fully the lands of Australia and Canada and other territories within the empire for food.

"Mr. Clynes favored separation of and state assistance for emigration and immigration so that labor could move about as circumstances required and conditions for mutual welfare were established which would remove the suspicion and opposition of those against emigration. He asked what was the use of having great territories world-wide if they were not used.

Otherwise they aroused political differences with those who wanted to use what was being left undeveloped.

Hon. Edward Wood, permanent under-secretary of state for the colonies, replied that close attention was being paid to encouraging emigration of a due proportion of women and men. The Grand Bazaar and Chicken Dinner held by the Ladies of the United Church Board on Saturday November 20th was a success. The extremely cold weather prevented many people from coming into town on that day. Yet a good company assembled to renew acquaintances and spend a happy hour together. The Ladies Aid also held their annual meeting. The Ladies Aid extends their heartfelt thanks to all the friends who contributed in any way to the success of the day. They will welcome any ladies who are not members of the Aid to attend their meetings, held in the Parsonage every Thursday afternoon at two o'clock.

HAZELL v SCHULTZ

The above case was for hearing before the Honourable Mr Justice Tweddle at the Criminal Court of the Supreme Court at Lethbridge last week. The charge against Schultz was "that on the 22nd, day of October A.D. 1921 at Highfield District in the Province of Alberta he did commit an assault which did cause previous bodily harm to Herbert McPherson Hazell contrary to Section 205 Criminal Code of Canada."

Dr. McPhail of Burgett who attended Hazell for the injuries he sustained was a witness for the prosecution. Hazell's evidence was to the effect that the rough and tumble scrap which took place between the two men was staged on the Road Allowance between Section Five and Section Four, Township Eight, Range Twelve, West of the Fourth Meridian. He testified that Schultz addressed him in the name of "Hello, Herbert and that he had answered "Hello, you German D." That afterwards Schultz threw a stone at him and then followed the fight which resulted in Hazell being confined to his bed for some days.

Schultz's story was that the fight took place on his land, the N.W. 1/4 4812 that the complainant had crossed the fence and attacked him with a whip. The Defence produced a whip and glove which according to the evidence was found after the fight on Schultz's land. After hearing several other witnesses in the course of the Defence, His Honour decided that Hazell was the aggressor, that he had come to the place of the encounter with the intention of raising trouble and had apparently got what he expected to give.

He dismissed the charge.

Dr. Concheyre, R.C. and C. F. Jamieson of Lethbridge acted for the Crown and the accused was defended by E.O. McKeown of Bow Island.

Grassy Lake

A big snow storm started last week. At present there is eight inches of snow, by measure, on the level. This was a very heavy snow storm with extreme cold and cattle are hard hit at present and are still feeling it. A good snowbank would be very welcome to this far too early in the season to start feeding stock. Also it will be severe on many who have not a supply of coal in, as farmers were only just beginning to haul in their winter supplies.

Mr. Cogswell, who has been farming the J.M. Corry farm south of town, has moved to another farm of Mr. Corry's, south of Purple Springs and will rent that farm in future.

Miss Ruth Satratt, of Taber, was a week-end visitor with her sister, Mrs. Commandeur.

Tom Snowdon, late manager of the N. Davi elevator was a business visitor in Lethbridge last Monday.

Mrs. Shibley and Miss Beaumont, who have returned from Lethbridge, feel greatly benefited by the educational instruction received at the Teacher's Convention last week.

Three coal mines, south of town, are doing great business these days. Teams are lined up waiting to take their turns, all day long. They are employing quite a few local men.

Mr. William Raisbeck, who has been running the U.O. elevator at Purple Springs all summer, has removed his family from the farm to Purple Springs for the winter.

Orion McDonald, who has been visiting friends the last two weeks in Magrath returned home last Saturday.

Eari Dawson and Tom Takin spent last Friday in Lethbridge on business.

Mr. Lionel Forrester from Cranbrook is a visitor for a week at his aunt's home, Mrs. Tom Oddie.

Two rather serious accidents happened to two of our prominent farmers south of town. Mr. John Parkinson, while herding his cattle on a rather high spilted horse, in making a sharp turn, his horse slipped and threw him. He was badly stoned for a time but after gaining consciousness was able to reach home where he is rapidly recovering, though he is unable to do his usual work at present. He was very badly bruised around the ribs on account of coming in contact with a large rock.

Last Monday, Tom Walker and his brother, Alex, were driving cattle from Taber. When near home Mr. Walker's horse slipped and rolled on the ground. The saddlehorn pierced his leg, badly crippling him. Alex had to leave him on the prairie and returning a big truck him to town. He was taken to the hospital at Bow Island on the afternoon train and received medical attention. We are glad to say both men are feeling as well as one could expect.
